DESCRIPTION OF THE TASK AND DELIVERABLE IN THE ARQUS GRANT AGREEMENT

This deliverable belongs to Task 05.2, which is described as follows in the Arqus Grant Agreement:

T05.2 Arqus Teaching Innovation online resource centre

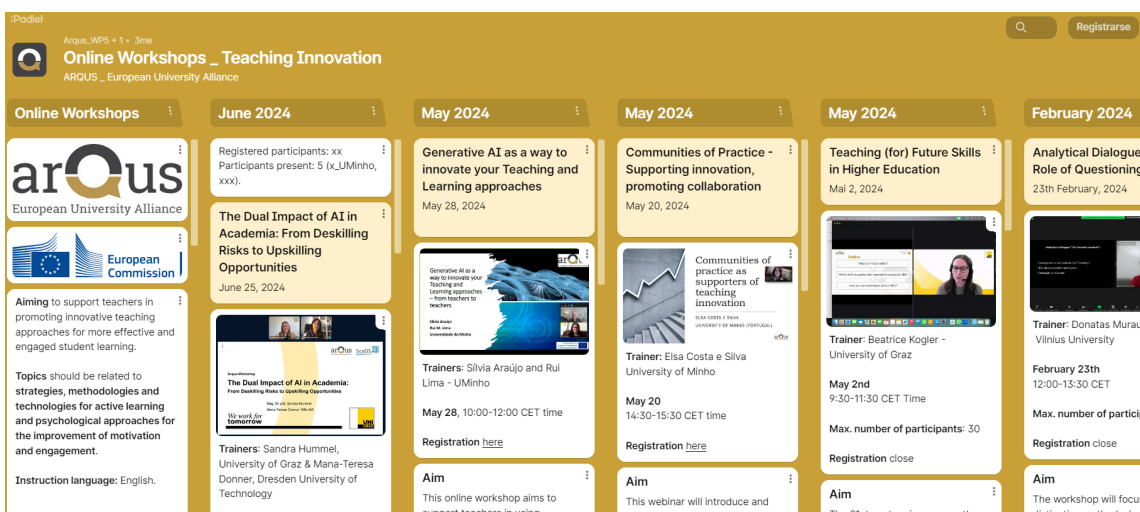

Building on and systematising initial work carried out under Arqus I, the resource centre is an online repository and hub of up-to- date information on teaching innovation and excellence, constituted by teaching, learning and assessment best practice description, research results and training materials in several formats, such as written, videos or podcasts. It will be housed on the Arqus LMS (WP12).

D05.3 Online Resource Centre toolkit is defined in the GA as an “Online platform with teaching innovation support materials”.

IMPLEMENTATION STATUS OF THE DELIVERABLE

WG05 has made a compilation of teaching innovation support materials in a series of padlets, which can be seen here:

The screenshot shows a Padlet board with the title "Online Workshops _ Teaching Innovation" and the subtitle "ARQUS _ European University Alliance". The board is organized into columns for different months: June 2024, May 2024, and February 2024. Each column contains several cards representing workshops. The cards include the following information:

- June 2024:
 - The Dual Impact of AI in Academia: From Deskilling Risks to Upskilling Opportunities (June 25, 2024). Trainers: Sandra Hummel, University of Graz & Mana-Teresa Donner, Dresden University of Technology.
- May 2024:
 - Generative AI as a way to innovate your Teaching and Learning approaches (May 28, 2024). Trainers: Sílvia Araújo and Rui Lima - UMinho.
 - Communities of Practice - Supporting innovation, promoting collaboration (May 20, 2024). Trainer: Elsa Costa e Silva, University of Minho.
 - Teaching (for) Future Skills in Higher Education (May 2, 2024). Trainer: Beatrice Kögler - University of Graz.
- February 2024:
 - Analytical Dialogue Role of Questioning (23th February, 2024). Trainer: Donatas Murau, Vilnius University.

In the future, a web section will be created on the Arqus website and each resource will be made accessible through the most adequate medium depending on characteristics (the Arqus Plaza Learning Management System for courses, Zenodo for open educational resources, the Arqus Youtube Channel for videos that have been generated inside the Alliance, etc.)
